

Just published

ISBN: 978-0-470-49067-9 | $ 45.00 | € 37.50

“If you want to put learning center stage, you must read this book.”

Designing the Smart Organization

How Breakthrough Corporate Learning Initiatives Drive Strategic Change and Innovation

Linking the domains of strategy, organizational design, and learning, this book reinvents the practice of corporate learning as a key for strategic leadership in the 21st century.

After introducing a powerful new conceptual framework, the book features ten detailed case studies that reveal how large-scale organizations are using the power of dynamic corporate learning approaches to drive innovation, enhance cultural values, master post-merger integration, transform business models, enhance leadership culture, build technological expertise, foster strategic change processes, and ultimately increase bottom line results.

Featuring 10 Case Stories About Outstanding Practices

- ABB
Phoenix from the Ashes: How a Corporate Learning Initiative Reinvented an Ailing Business
- Unicredit Group:
Innovating Learning Through Design and Architecture
- BASF
Designing Customer Centricity for Multiple Market Segments: The perspectives Project
- PricewaterhouseCoopers
The Executive Hero's Journey: Going Places Where Corporate Learning Never Went Before
- EnBW
Healing Post-Merger Chasms: Creating Corporate Values from the Bottom Up (EnBW)
- US Army
Transforming the U.S. Army Through an Informal Leadership Learning Network
- Siemens
Top Executive Leadership Learning
- EADS
Managing the Strategic Asset of Cutting-Edge Technological Expertise
- Novartis
Leadership Learning as Competitive Strategy in the Chinese Market
- Deutsche Post DHL
First Choice - The World's Largest Customer Focus Initiative

Praise From Prominent Scholars and Executives

Without any qualification and only with heartfelt enthusiasm, this book should be read immediately by every leader in every institution. ... It is especially useful right now in these times when all organizations are facing uncertainty, chaos and crises.
-- Warren Bennis, author of "On Becoming a Leader" and co-author of "Transparency" and "Judgment."

...puts corporate learning squarely where it belongs: at the strategic table. And where it happens: in the practices of the organization... – Etienne Wenger, Author of "Communities of Practice: Learning, Meaning, and Identity"

A truly insightful book that I highly recommend for any corporate leader, senior executive, or consultant who is looking to create organizations that last. ... Daniel Dirks, Executive VP and Global Head of HR, Allianz Group.

... helps us realize just how much we must regrind our lenses for seeing how deep learning can naturally happen in an organization ... I highly recommend this book for any corporate leader wanting to succeed in a rapidly changing world.
-- John Seely Brown, Co-Author of The Social Life of Information and The Only Sustainable Edge

... clearly, effectively and accurately points out how organizations must reframe how they design learning processes to thrive in today's rapidly changing world....
– Edward E. Lawler III, Co-author of Built to Change

... filled with knowledge and insight about the challenges learning organizations face in the transition from a traditionalist mindset to a forward looking perspective on learning strategy... – Michelle Marquard, Global Director of Corporate Learning, Cisco Systems, Inc.

A path-breaking work! Deiser creatively uses learning theory and practice to recast the practice of strategic management ... remarkable case studies from 10 prominent companies. – Larry Greiner, Co-Author of Management Consulting Today and Tomorrow and Dynamic Strategy Making

... does an excellent job in making us think about learning in novel ways - as an enabler of organizational change, cultural unification, strategic renewal, or just plain survival. Everybody who wants to make a difference in business, government, or other organizational worlds should read this book. – Immanuel Hermreck, Executive VP Human Resources, Bertelsmann AG

About the Author

Roland Deiser is the founder and Executive Chairman of the European Corporate Learning Forum (ECLF) and serves as a Senior Fellow at the Center for the Digital Future at the USC Annenberg School of Communication. He can be reached at rd@rolanddeiser.com.

www.josseybass.com
www.rolanddeiser.com

JOSSEY-BASS™
An Imprint of WILEY
Now you know.